DESCRIPTION

I'm always willing to learn new things, open to new approaches and ideas. I enjoy both working alone and in a team, either in an office or doing remote work, and I adapt quickly and easily to any environment, technology and organization.

I prefer challenging and hard projects that require more than just a little bit of thought and development. I'm also interested in researching and doing things that haven't been done.

WORK EXPERIENCE

December 2013–Present Intern

HIGH PERFORMANCE COMPUTING AND NETWORKING, UAM

Familiarizing myself with high performance networking, working on network dependency analysis, Linux driver development for traffic capture, numeric algorithms optimizations with OpenCL and network protocol reverse engineering and analysis.

January 2012–Present Freelance developer

Worked as a freelancer in various projects:

WINDOWS PHONE DEVELOPMENT   Designed and developed from scratch Ocell (as a side project), Clases de Apoyo and Emergencias 066, an application for emergency assistance in Mexico. Assisted Softwhisper in the development of a Windows Phone application.

EGARANTE   Designed and created the Firefox addon for eGarante. This addon allows users to digitally sign and timestamp any web page, including private ones (e.g. Twitter, Facebook). Developed a Python service to automatically sign user's conversations on social networks. Reference: Yago Jesús.

OTHER WORK   Specialized in C# and networking in C/C++, I helped in the refactor and correction of existing projects and developed analyzers and dissectors for network traces, including parsers in restricted environments (e.g. OpenWRT routers).

January 2010–Present Editor at Genbeta, WEBLOGS SL

Writing about web and software in one of the most visited blogs in its category.
